THE NEW TREATIES.

Secretary Frelinghuysen Chosen to the Industry of the Spanish Convention.

His Arguments to Detail as to the Various Objections to the Document.

Logical, Patent and Successful Vindication of the Cause of the Proposed Treaty with Nicaragua.

SECRETARY FRELINGHUYSEN.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—The following self-explanatory letter in regard to the Spanish treaty has been written by Secretary Frelinghuysen and sent this afternoon to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, Washington, D. C., Dec. 26.—To Hon. John T. Morgan, Chairman Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, Senate: I have received your letter of the 23d instant, relating to the treaty between the United States and Spain as to trade and commerce between the United States and the islands of the Antilles. I am glad to have an opportunity to submit to the committee my views in relation to the objections which have been presented to the ratification of the treaty. The ratification of this convention, pursuant to the provisions of the constitution, was strongly urged upon the Senate and Congress by the President of the United States, and by the Secretary of State, as important to the commercial interests of the United States, and to the welfare of many and extensive industries. The great benefits which would accrue from the ratification of the convention were fully set forth in the message of the President to the Senate, and in the report of the Secretary of State, which accompanied the treaty when it was submitted to the Senate for its consideration. The corresponding favor before you in the public and printed records of the Department of State, which were laid before the Senate when the treaty was submitted for its consideration, to which I beg leave to refer, and which I trust you will examine with care, as they contain the views which have governed the action of the Executive in the negotiation of the treaty, and the considerations which have induced the Senate to give its advice and consent to the ratification of the convention. I do not doubt that the search which you will make into the history of the negotiations will satisfy you that the Executive has been actuated by a desire to secure such a measure of reciprocity as would be beneficial to the United States, and that the Senate, in advising the ratification of the convention, has been influenced by the same motive. I do not think it necessary to enter into a discussion of the objections which have been made to the treaty, as I am sure that the committee will be able to form a correct judgment upon the merits of the convention, and upon the objections which have been urged against it, without any assistance from me. I will, however, call your attention briefly to the objections which have been made to the treaty, and to the reasons which have induced the Executive to believe that the objections are not well founded. The first objection which has been urged against the treaty is that the Spanish Government has not the power to make the treaty, and that the Queen Regent, in signing the treaty, has exceeded her powers. The Spanish Government has, however, treated the treaty as a valid and binding convention, and has carried out its provisions in the same manner as it has carried out the provisions of the treaty of 1877, which has been in force for thirteen years. The Spanish Government has also submitted the treaty to the Cortes, and has obtained the necessary legislation to put the provisions of the treaty into effect. The Spanish Government has, therefore, by its own action, recognized

Maj. Handy, editor of the New York Mail and Express, is spending a couple weeks with his brother-in-law, Dr. Bell, at No. 340 Washington boulevard.

Bishop C. H. Fowler and family of New York are spending the holidays with their son-in-law, Dr. Blatchford, No. 3 Ogden place. Dr. Fowler will preach in the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday morning.

Dr. Paul W. Pelz, President of the Chicago Dental Association, telegraphs Dr. Frank Abbe East from other conventions that the Council are now assembled here in session and will be pleased to have the members of the association and all dentists in attendance at the meeting call at the Council rooms in the Grand Pacific Hotel for the purpose of assembling with the council.

IN GENERAL.

C. A. Bell, who is said to be in Europe, has gone to the completion as director of the Board of Trade.

The applications made south before Commissioner Hoyne were held on Saturday, Dec. 10, instead of Monday, as was erroneously stated.

David Tomlinson and William Perrault were held to bail for Commissioner Hoyne yesterday to answer the charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit $20 silver certificate.

The transportation committee, as reported by Messrs. Spencer, of Southern roads, Chamberlain, of Northern roads, and Talcott, of Eastern roads, met on Saturday, but there was no business transacted.

Prof. Swing's West Side Sunday-school had a Christmas entertainment of the usual kind at Farwell hall last night. The room was crowded with young people, who seemed to enjoy the exercises hugely.

A freight engine on the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway collided at the Union point crossing yesterday with the head of Jones's family, driving the W. B. Kept of Evanston. The boy was injured in Mayer, but there escaped with only a few bruises. The horse was killed.

Commissioner Farnsworth was in Chicago and in conference with the Board of Trade committee on Saturday. The commissioner left for Washington last night, and will return to Chicago on the 20th inst. to attend the meeting of the Board of Trade.

The engineer and conductor of the Western Union Hospital held a meeting last evening at the Sherman House for the purpose of organizing a building and loan association. The following officers were elected: President, Conductor Wm. Hall; Secretary, Engineer Wm. Hall; Treasurer, Conductor Wm. Hall; Attorney, Engineer Wm. Hall; Executive Committee, Engineer Wm. Hall, Conductor Wm. Hall, Engineer Wm. Hall. The association will be known as the Wm. Hall Building and Loan Association.

William Keller, alias Louis Fisher, a member of the "Counterfeiters' gang" of horse-thieves which operated extensively throughout the State of Illinois, was brought to Lake View early in the morning, and brought before Justice Kossuth to answer to two new charges of burglary. Mrs. Fisher, of No. 40 Sherman street, identified a watch which was stolen from her house on the night of the 4th inst., and Keller said that the watch, he had purchased it of a man named Fisher, who had stolen it from a house on Lincoln avenue. Keller was committed to the county jail in default of $2,000 bail on each charge.

THE SALOON CASE.

Another delightful entertainment was given last evening by the Illinois Club in the form of an art exhibition, which lasted from 8 to 11. The entertainment was largely attended by many of the most wealthy and fashionable citizens, and the parlors of the club-rooms, on the corner of Dearborn and Monroe streets, were filled with a brilliant throng. The pictures were all loaned for the occasion by the members of the club, and were of a very high order of merit. The collection was a most creditable one, and the club is to be congratulated upon the success of its first attempt in the direction of art. The following is a list of the pictures and artists:

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

The sudden leaving town last month, especially as it was done in the private parlor of Burke's Restaurant without ostensible cause, was a matter of much speculation among the friends of Dr. Hosley, a Californian, and graduate of the University of Heidelberg, Bonn, Berlin, and Paris, Professor of the Latin Languages, and a linguist, explorer, and antiquarian of great note in many countries. Dr. Hosley's sudden departure was attributed to a sudden attack of insanity, and it is learned that he was placed in charge of a physician, who took him to Kansas, where he is now under treatment. Dr. Hosley is a gentleman of fine attainments, and his friends hope for his speedy recovery.

CANVASSING.

Supervisor Ellis moved that the resolution of the Cook County Commissioners that there should be a vote in Southern Cook County which would favor the erection of a new county out of the territory of Cook, Will, and Kankakee counties, be rescinded. This is the "Secession" of the Calumet, or Grand Pacific plan of Lemuel Coleman. Under the South Chicago law, from which the constitution is copied, in creating the new county, the area is obtained from the said counties by bringing the boundary line of the new county to Chicago. Of the new county thus formed, Chicago would contain a certain support from the territory that is closer to her interests.

At a session of their party, the Judge in charge of the Democratic Committee would be handicapped in their efforts to get a majority of their party out to vote for the division of the county, as many of their party would be opposed to the division of the county, and would not vote for it. It seemed to be the general opinion that the Democratic Committee would not be willing to have the matter pushed to the front, as it would be a hard matter to get a majority of their party to vote for the division of the county.

THE COUNTY COURT.

The County court has appointed the several commissioners yesterday averaged to the duty being furnished at the expense of the county. The lands of the various counties, and purchasers having been duly notified of their meeting, across the Calumet river, Chairman Coggeshall, but with the consent of the latter.

It was reported that the jury have voted in favor of the Southern county division, Chairman [illegible] and Foss Hamilton, of Thornton, and Foss Hamilton, of Bloom, voting against it. It seemed to be the general impression in the County Court that the Commissioners would report in favor of the division of the county, and that the Legislature would pass the bill creating the new county. Commissioner Ellis, who has been opposed to the division of the county, has changed his mind, and is now in favor of it. He is in favor of the division of the county, and is in favor of the bill creating the new county.

The Double Chorus of the Temple of Arkaneo—A Startling Religious Ceremony.

The Double Chorus of the Temple.

One of the boldest and most mysterious books of recent date has appeared for a time past in New York. Sensible persons of a reasonable sense the Royal Lodges of Arkaneo. So that the first steps was who arrested the secret confederacy of that order, and to give a true account of the conspiracy. From the history of the Arkaneo and their success to avoid have happened into a very curious position, the questions possible of Congress's secrets have such accidental instances have been.

The Temple are a secret order of agriculturists living in the northwestern part of Arkansas in the Little Colorado or Pine River and the Grand Canyon. They control seven villages, very advantageously placed as regards railroads, on the coast of grandpoints each village containing a population of from 600 to 800 persons, the surrounding country and their chief business crops of corn, vegetables, and peaches, and possess their shops and dwellings. They were probably known to the San Francisco merchants, and are believed to have come to their present settlements for over 200 years. The tribe is divided into numerous bands, or clans, each governed by a sachem, or chief, and every clan has its own portion of a village. When a man marries he goes into his wife's gens, and, when he dies, his children are buried by his people. Each clan of the nine tribes are noted for its peculiarities, and secret ceremonies; for instance, the Bear gens are noted for their courage, the Wolf gens for their cunning, the Eagle gens for their swiftness, and so on. The Bear gens, and, indeed, both the Bear and Wolf gens, are said to be descended from the Grizzly Bear and Wolf of the Rocky Mountains, and to have inherited the courage and cunning of their ancestors. The Eagle gens are said to be descended from the Eagle of the Rocky Mountains, and to have inherited the swiftness of their ancestors. The Bear gens are said to be descended from the Grizzly Bear of the Rocky Mountains, and to have inherited the courage of their ancestors. The Wolf gens are said to be descended from the Wolf of the Rocky Mountains, and to have inherited the cunning of their ancestors.

The Temple are governed by a council of chiefs, one from each gens, and the council is presided over by a chief, who is elected by the council. The council has the power to make laws, and to enforce them. The council has the power to declare war, and to make peace. The council has the power to appoint and remove officers. The council has the power to levy taxes, and to collect them. The council has the power to coin money, and to issue it. The council has the power to regulate commerce, and to establish ports. A Little Tour in France.

Under the title "In Provence," the well-known author of "Pastels of Paris" has published a series of charming sketches of the picturesque, historic, and romantic scenery of the south of France. The author begins his pilgrimage at Avignon, and ends it at Arles. The book is full of the most delightful descriptions of the scenery, the people, the customs, the manners, the dress, the food, the drink, the music, the dancing, the singing, the poetry, the literature, the art, the architecture, the history, the legends, the traditions, the superstitions, the religion, the philosophy, the science, the medicine, the law, the politics, the economics, the sociology, the anthropology, the ethnology, the archaeology, the geology, the mineralogy, the botany, the zoology, the ornithology, the entomology, the ichthyology, the herpetology, the mammalogy, the primatology, the cetology, the sirenology, the pinnipedology, the carnivorology, the ungulatology, the proboscidology, the rodentology, the lagomorphology, the insectivorology, the chiropterology, the edentatology, the marsupialology, the monotremology, the ornithorhynchology, the echidnology, the platypusology, the kangarooology, the wallabyology, the opossumology, the bandicootology, the wombatology, the koalaology, the phascologalology, the dasyurology, the thylacinology, the sarcophilology, the myrmecobiology, the notoryctology, the perameloidology, the peramelology, the chaeropodology, the thylacomyology, the hypsiprymnodontology, the potoroology, the macropodology, the phalangerology, the petauroidology, the petaurology, the tarsipedology, the burramyology, the acrobatology, the cheiromyology, the dactylopsilology, the dactylonomology, the dactylocoptology, the dactylocnemology, the dactylocephalology, the dactylocheirology, the dactylocheiropodology, the dactylocheiropodologyology.

Much has been done to encourage travel on the continent, to the advancement of the commerce and trade of the various countries and cities, and to the benefit of the hotel keepers, boatmen, guides, and others who live by the tourist. But the most important result of the tourist movement is the influence it has had on the character of the tourist himself. The tourist who goes abroad for the first time is apt to be a very different person from the tourist who comes home

Preliminary for Assertions Pursuant to Condition.

The Stockmen at Gen. 41 published an account of a scheme for the interests of the British colonial world, it is claimed, will to result in extend the employment and business of England of the difficulties that have there. It appears that the new plan will have a material effect upon the interests of the American farmers, which it may do, first to materially benefit the cities of England, and. This proposed scheme of financial federation, according to the statements of a Canadian of prominence, who is said to be in a position to know, contemplates the form in the near, "united" a confederation of the British Empire and, at the initiation of the Empire and the imposition of a tariff on the products of all nations which refuse a duty on British and primary goods, all products north which greatly control British trade. England have long been, but recently it is thought, and but for the new measure she is constantly opening up among half-civilized nations which is natural. England buys more in some times as much from France as she sells of that country, and the same is equally proportion true of Germany.

What the United States wishes are still greater. In 1883 the country sent more than $400,000,000 worth of goods to these nations and purchased from the same nations $700,000,000 worth. It is easy seen that the loss of trading centers and goods largely affects the prosperity of the country. The proposed scheme of the Canadian statesmen, which

The Continental Modernity of Steamboat Cars in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Some Points Still Unsupreme of Comparison in Chicago Would Do Well to Consider.

Idea of an Independent Association from a Subscriber of the Chicago Church.

The heating of steamboat by hot water grand scale in this Territory of ours, and the advent of the corresponding steam apparatus in our cars, has furnished a theme for much comment and discussion in the city and out. The Pioneers of the North Star State seem to have the only method of heating a car, and every one of them is a warm one. A few days ago, in the crowded cars on the suburban trains, the writer of this article, as he sweltered and gasped for breath, was reminded that the old proverb of the "Black Hole of Calcutta" was not a myth, and that the Pioneers of the North Star State were not to be blamed for the heat of the cars. The absence of the fire-stoves and their accompanying smoke, dirt and cinders, and the substitution of the steam apparatus, which is as clean and odorless as the steam which drives the engine, is a blessing which every one who has ever ridden in the old cars will appreciate. But there is a limit to all things, and the heat of the cars is one of the things which has reached that limit. The thermometer of the cars ranges from seventy to ninety degrees, and the latter figure is reached very frequently. It would strange that a thing which is so much appreciated as the steam apparatus should produce so much discomfort as the heat of the cars. It would seem that the system of heating these cars is at fault somewhere, and that the steam is not properly regulated. THE TRIBUNE FIELD STORY.

The Shannon gang of 20 has been checked for a week by the action of the three pursuit parties.

The problem on which the police have to wrestle for six: 1) Have the gang divided for all time? 2) Have the gang divided for a month? 3) Have it moved into the city and taken refuge in the slums? 4) Have the gang split up? 5) Has enough time elapsed to warrant the belief that the gang has scattered?

Under no circumstances can the Tribune permit to keep secret knowledge which would be of value to the police in the solution of the problem. Consistency requires that the Tribune should not withhold it to make itself even more valuable to the news purveyors.

Following these general statements is the fact that the Tribune has in its possession information which leads it to believe that the gang has not left the city, but has split up into small bands, and is now lying low in the slums.

Saturday there was a general movement in the gang. Big Jim Shannon and Dan Shannon, the leaders, met in the morning at the corner of Halsted and Harrison streets, and then Dan Shannon went to the Halsted-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Bonfield. Then Dan Shannon went to the Harrison-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Hubbard. Then Dan Shannon went to the Desplaines-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Stuart. Then Dan Shannon went to the Chicago-avenue station and had a talk with Lieutenant Schaack. Then Dan Shannon went to the Twelfth-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Hunt. Then Dan Shannon went to the Lake-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Ahern. Then Dan Shannon went to the Central station and had a talk with Lieutenant Shea. Then Dan Shannon went to the Desplaines-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Stuart. Then Dan Shannon went to the Halsted-street station and had a talk with Lieutenant Bonfield.
